NEW INDIAN RESERVE SCHEME.
It is understood that a revised scheme for the Indian Army Reserve of Officers is engaging the attention of Lord Rawlinson.
The plan now in operation for creating an officer reserve has had a two years' trial and only a small percentage of the 2,000 officers required has been obtained. Employers of labour are apparently unwilling to support any scheme which might render their employees liable to serve in Indian operations as distinct from great emergencies. The main idea is that the Army in India should be of sufficient strength for all local needs. It is expected that the new scheme will be adaptable to the needs of individual cases and circumstances.

"SOCIETY SNOBS"

A Romance of Smart Society with a theme as novel as it is original. This was their hour. A fleeting, blissful period of ecstasy, with the World and its social distinctions far away and forgotten. But as the sunshine is followed by the night, so did the creeping shadow of revelation slowly deepen. Could he reveal the truth and tell her he was only a—WAITER?

ALCOHOL IN DISEASE.

Sedative Or Stimulant.

Presiding at the 150th anniversary of the Middlesex Hospital Society, Sir James Kingston Fowler said that the Victorian Age in science vied with the Elizabethan Age in literature, and had witnessed great changes in preventive medicine, bacteriology, and surgery. Entoric fever was now a disappearing disease in this country, but among the many changes in medical practice since 1874 few had been more significant than that attaching to the use of alcohol in disease. It was now accepted that the first effect of alcohol on the body was sedative and not stimulant.

Fifty years ago every patient with pneumonia admitted to King's College Hospital was on admission ordered eight ounces of brandy in the 24 hours. This was increased to 10, 12, or even 14 ounces daily. Long ago he succeeded in emancipating himself from this view, and he still maintained that the use of alcohol in such quantities was unnecessary and harmful.

Our Portrait is of Mrs. M. BACE, of St. Dunstons Lane, Stourbridge, England, who writes:-

"For 8 years I suffered with a terrible round stretching from the abdomen to the right hip; during that time I tried doctors and patent medicines innumerable, but without success. At length
I was persuaded to try Clarke's Blood Mixture, and after taking the first bottle began to see an improvement, which has continued, with the result that my wound is healed and I now have no pain. I am writing this testimonial to show that other sufferers like myself may have the benefit of your marvellous medicine. In a further recent letter, nearly two years later, Mrs. Bace writes: "I am happy to say that there has been no recurrence of my complaint, and consider my cure a very satisfactory cure."

Sufferers from Bad Legs, Abscesses, Ulcers, Eczema, Boils, Pimples, Eruptions, Rheumatism, Gout, should realize that toxins and elements can be given temporary relief-to be sure of complete and lasting benefit, the blood must be thoroughly cleansed of the impure waste matter, the true cause of such troubles. Clarke's Blood Mixture quickly attacks, overcomes, and expels the impurities, that is why so many remarkable recoveries stand to its credit. Pleasant to take and free from injurious ingredients.

CAMERA NEWS

A. LUCKY ESCAPE.—Remarkable picture showing Major Frederick Martin (right) and Sergeant Alva Harvey exactly as they appeared after they had fought their way through mountain passes, after trailing a mirage and smashing into a mountain side. Note the beard on Martin and his dishevelled appearance.

BUILDING A SKYSCRAPER.—Cinema-goers will be able to see a 32-storey skyscraper shoot up from its foundations in a quarter of an hour. A Chicago film company has had a camera permanently mounted opposite it, taking a few yards of film per day. Top picture shows the operations in the early stages, whilst the bottom shows the structure nearing completion.

THE "MISSISSIPPI" EXPLOSION.—Carrying the dead and injured from the U.S.S. dreadnought Mississippi to the hospital ship Relief, following an explosion during range practice off San Pedro Harbour. Forty-eight officers and sailors were trapped in a gun turret by the blast when a heavy charge of high explosive flared back from the gun breech, filling the turret with deadly gases.

AMERICAN RUNNERS.—Jackson Scholz, the New York Athletic Club runner, who has left world's records lying in a dozen places of late, is here shown at the Boston Olympic try-out finals, taking the 100-meter race from Charlie Paddock. Scholz is on extreme right and Paddock is shown in characteristic running stride on left. Both Scholz and Paddock surpassed previous Olympic marks for the 200 meters, but Scholz beat Paddock's time by two-tenths of a second.

CRIGUI KNOCKED OUT.—First pictures from France showing how completely out was Eugene Crigui when he met Dan Frush, who hails from Baltimore.

PIRATES NEAR MACAO.

SEVEN CORPSES FOUND FLOATING.

(Our Own Correspondent.)

Macao, July 14.
On Saturday, pirates made an attempt to raid the Malowchow Customs Station (Lappa District), but they were unsuccessful, as their intention had been previously disclosed.

Of late, pirates have been active in this locality, and yesterday there was a grim reminder of this fact when the corpses of seven Chinese, all bound tightly together with thick ropes, were found floating in the harbour. It is presumed that these were the bodies of hostages held by the pirates, and that as the ransom demanded had not been forthcoming, they were all tied together and thrown overboard from some pirate vessel.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

Another version of the finding of these bodies states that they were men belonging to one of Dr. Sun's military forces which had come into conflict with another force also owing allegiance to Dr. Sun. It is said that these rival forces went to Kum Tau Wan, about ten miles from Macao, for the purpose of collecting revenue due on rice fields, totalling about a lakh of dollars, and that fighting broke out between them. The victorious force captured forty of the other side, and rather than keep them in custody they tied them together in various lots and threw them into the water. Over fifty peasants' huts in the fields are also said to have been burned down.

KONGMOON NEWS.

BLACKMAIL BY PIRATES.

(Our Own Correspondent.)

Kongmoon, July 14th.
A recent report indicates that after some indecisive fighting between the pro-Chan and pro-Sun forces, the former have gained another definite step forward by taking Hoiping City, and are working their way down from Yanping and Hoiping. Wounded soldiers are soon returning to Chekhon, and a large number of dead bodies floating down the river from the Yanping creek.

The Hop Koo towboat, which was on the Kongmoon-Shokki run and which was recently pirated near Ngohoi, has received a blackmailing letter from the gang of pirates concerned, demanding a sum of $2,400 as compensation for expenses of ammunition and provisions incurred in the said piracy. As a result of this intimidation, the announced resumption of the service has been put off by the owners.

KOWLOON BAND CONCERT.

Owing to a misunderstanding, it was erroneously announced in the morning papers to-day, that the Kowloon Band Concert, which had to be postponed last night owing to inclement weather, was to take place on Thursday next. This is not so, and Kowloon's first concert will take place on Monday, July 28th, at 9 p.m.

CORONET THEATRE.

A NOTABLE FILM.

If Mark Twain's great book, "The Prince and the Pauper," deserves the author's description as "a story for young people of all ages," not less does the film, now showing at the Coronet Theatre under the same name, the producers having caught the spirit which animated the original work and with rare skill infused it into the picture.

Those who do not know the story of "The Prince and the Pauper" will be interested in a brief summary of a tale that will never die. Its principal figures are two boys who bear a marvellous resemblance to each other, though one is heir to the English Throne and the other is Tom Canty, the son of a thief. The period is 1537. The two boys meet in a plausible manner and the Prince, in a spirit of mischief, orders Tom to change clothes with him that he may explore Tom's haunts, while the latter remains in the Palace attired in the royal robes. Then the drama begins. For the Prince cannot return to the Palace, nor can Tom escape. Neither boy is believed when he tells the truth about his identity and each is thought to be mad. The efforts of the Prince to escape from the lawless band who hold him and return to his rightful place provide many exciting incidents as well as some very pathetic moments while Tom's sorry attempts at princely dignity are highly amusing. This fascinating story of mistaken identity is played in magnificent settings—palaces, courtyards, cathedrals and picturesque streets.

Altogether "The Prince and the Pauper" is one of the most notable pictures of the year.

TEASERS

The Crescent Moon

On certain nights, when the crescent moon is shining, it is often possible to trace the dim outline of the full moon; the continuation of the outer rim which is there, but invisible. Assuming that the rim of the full moon forms a perfect circle, can you continue the course of the outer rim of the crescent? That is the subject of today's teaser. The letters indicate a number of stars. Try to cross out all those stars which come within the outer circle of the moon, and which would, therefore, be completely obscured from view, were the moon full. Do not draw in the remainder of the broken circle. Make your estimate carefully and pick the numbers.

Yesterday's Teaser

The race course has 1200 yards around. An estimate of 1500 is exact; 1150 or 1550, very good; 1400 or 1600, good; 1200 or 1700, average; 1300 or 1400, fair; less than 1200 or more than 1700, poor.

GOVERNOR'S TRAGIC DEATH.

Mr. W. S. Royce, who had just been appointed Governor of Tasmania, died on the top of a bus in London on route to the House of Commons last month. Mr. Royce started life as an apprentice to a builder and then went to South Africa at the age of eighteen, eventually becoming Managing Director of the Transvaal Engineering and Contracting Company at Johannesburg. Returning to England, he twice fought the Holland Division as a Unionist in 1910 and as a Labourite in 1918. He had recently become a large landowner in the Spalding district.

TWO-MINUTE TALKS A Daily Tonic By ROBERT POWER

MY LEGAL ADVISER.

My Legal Adviser is a gentleman I hope to see as little as possible—in his official capacity. But sometimes he is indispensable.

Although technically I am supposed, as a good citizen, to understand the Law, for ignorance is no excuse for an infraction, yet it has grown so complicated that I must have an adviser to guide me if I set foot in its maze. The old proverb, "The law was made for the lawyers to grow fat on," is another way of saying it is so complicated that it is almost impossible to understand, and requires one trained in its subtleties to get it in motion.

In the old days Might was the Law. Force ruled, and if there was a clash, the weaker went to the wall. That primitive instinct still persists in human nature, and you may often see it break out in acts that shock us by their crudeness. But generally we behave in a more refined fashion and do our fighting by proxy. Or, as it is said, we go to law.

Few people have a good word to say for lawyers. They have always had a bad name. We remember the pungent remark of Lord Brougham himself a member of the Bar. "A lawyer is a gentleman who rescues your estate from your enemies—and keeps it for himself." Goldsmith, who had reason to rue the "limbs of the law," wrote in "The Good Natured Man": "Lawyers are always more ready to eat a man than to trouble him out of them." Johnson's tremendous indictment of the legal labyrinth.

was recorded by Mrs. Pizzi. "I cannot exactly tell you who he is, and I would loath to speak ill of any person who I do not know deserves it. But I am afraid he is an attorney."

But let us not forget that lawlessness makes the lawyer busy and a love of litigation fills his blue bag with papers. How many a man, too, has allowed pride and obstinacy to carry him into court. When his cause fails, he will often turn round and abuse his legal adviser, who may quite possibly have done his best to dissuade him from taking proceedings. A good lawyer advises to the best of his ability: if that wise counsel is flouted, then he must do his best to help his client win. One of the oldest proverbs in our language says: "Virtue in the middle; said the devil, when seated between two lawyers."

But there is another Legal Adviser who serves every man faithfully and freely. Conscience will always witness the right of any controversy or course of conduct. Pride and Prejudice, those two rascally "attorneys," will try to represent the case in a manner pleasing to our self-interest. We may accept their advice, and if we do we certainly shall rue it.

Let that inward Monitor be our best "Legal Adviser," and then we shall only seek the services of the man of law when our cause is just or we need advice concerning the intricacies of the legal labyrinth.

HONGKONG, 15th July, 1924.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE.

Advertising has well and truly been described as one of the greatest if not the most distinguishing feature of the present age. To what an enormous extent it has grown within recent years is known by everyone where newspapers circulate, and further proof of the power which it wields is to be found in the fact that no fewer than five thousand delegates attended the opening of the Convention of Associated Advertising Clubs at Wembley yesterday. All those representatives are at the Empire Exhibition because they are directly interested in advertising—the motive power of modern business.

We now no longer live in an age when there is any doubt amongst sound business men as to the wisdom of spending regularly and liberally on publicity. Great firms whose goods are household words the world over keep on advertising because they know that if they drop out of the columns of the newspaper, their businesses are bound to suffer. We have a concrete example of the unwisdom of stopping advertising in the case of the famous boot-polish firm of Messrs. Day and Martin, recently gone into liquidation. Failure to keep up its advertising was the reason frankly given by the management for the decline of business which it suffered. Many famous writers, including Charles Dickens, had made reference to the firm by name in their books, and its prestige was apparently secure. Then came the mistake of thinking that the public would keep on wanting the product without constant reminder of its merits. Competition was invited by this attitude—active advertising competition. And then came the inevitable collapse; the firm was really in the position of fighting an opponent with one hand tied behind its back. Prestige is admittedly a wonderful foundation for advertising, but it is not an adequate substitute therefor, and never can be.

One has no need to look farther afield than this Colony to secure convincing proof of the value, in increased business, of judicious publicity through the medium of attractive newspaper advertising. Time was when the old-established firms of the Colony were content to sit back and rely on business coming to them, instead of endeavouring to create additional business by taking the public into their confidence by modern advertising methods. That day has passed and gone. Any successful commercial enterprise in Hongkong to-day will bear testimony to the potency and wisdom of publicity which keeps its goods before the eyes of the public. A taipan might as well expect his motor-car to run without gasoline as his business to prosper without advertising.

Unrest.

The attempt on Zaghlul Pasha might at first seem to be an indication that there are Egyptians who do not approve of the policy of breaking away from Britain and getting the Sudan to follow suit. Certainly, there are many in Egypt who see that their administrators are adopting a shortsighted policy, and would rather have the British control, which has done so much for the country, continue in its present modified form; but we are inclined to view the plot to assassinate the Egyptian Nationalist head as the work either of some political rival or else of a band of extremists who actually consider that the present native administration has not gone far enough in its demands. Zaghlul Pasha, who suffered banishment for a time because of his denunciation of the British regime, has not modified his claims for absolute independence one bit, yet he is considered by the more fanatical Egyptians to be too moderate. This gives one an idea of what the agitation in the country is like. The British Government, anxious not to give rise to open revolt—for events were tending that way—sacrificed a great deal last year. In fact, from a Protocol, with various material advantages to the protector, the country has become independent to the extent of being a first-class nuisance. Nevertheless, the fires of unrest still smoulder, and threaten to blaze up beyond control.

In India.

The chief concern of the British Government for a considerable number of years has been the unrest in India, which aims at forcing an introduction of complete home rule, before the people are really ready for such emancipation. This argument has been made time and again, but the professional agitators refuse to admit that the jealousies as between sects, creeds and castes will be too great to allow of smooth working of a purely Indian administration. It will be many years before the national spirit can grow sufficiently to overcome the prejudices of centuries. Home rule all of a sudden will mean throwing the majority of the people of India off their balance. Nothing is more significant of the difficulties which a native Indian government would have to face than the religious rioting which crops up every now and again, and is illustrated by the recent affair reported from Delhi between Hindus and Mohammedans. When two creeds like these have a dispute, they are prepared to submit to the decision of an impartial arbitrator; but the extremists apparently do not attempt to visualise the result of a big clash between opposing factions in the event of a government of mixed Hindu and Mohammedan leanings, whose sympathies could be called into account, and whose authority over mob feeling would be practically nil. But not before the millennium, can man become a paragon of reasoning virtue. As long as he sees ideals ahead of him, he goes after them, blindly most of the time, repeatedly stumbling and hurting himself.

Shameen Outlook.

The Labour organisations in Canton are apparently very indignant over the new Shameen police permit regulations, and from what has transpired at a recent meeting, it seems clear that the matter is to be taken up strongly with a view to securing some modification of the rules. We are hoping, however, nothing will be said or done which will react on the relationship between Shameen and Canton. The two places are very closely linked in commercial and social intercourse, and it would be indeed unfortunate, both for one and the other, were any ostracism to spring up. The moment

DAY BY DAY.

RESPECT FOR THE LAW IS THE SUPREME SAFEGUARD OF DEMOCRACIES.—M. Millerand.

Yesterday's health return shows two cases of enteric fever (one Portuguese and one Indian).

The S.S. Sai On, built to the order of the Tung On Steamship Company, is to be launched at the Talkoo Dockyard on the 19th instant at 11.30 a.m.

A Daily Bulletin telegram from Hankow says the Indo-China Steam Navigation Company's steamer Changwo is ashore at Hsichowkwo, between Changsha and Yochow.

We understand that, for urgent private reasons, Mr. N. Tosdolo Mackintosh, Registrar of the University of Hongkong, has resigned his post and that his resignation has been accepted.

"Social Problems and the Ancient Wisdom" will be the subject of this week's Public Lecture of the Hongkong Lodge of the Theosophical Society, 16, Queen's Road Central, on Wednesday July 16th at 5.45 p.m. All are welcome.—Adv.

The health return for the past week shows six cases of enteric fever (one English, three Chinese and two Indian), of which one was fatal; four of diphtheria (three Chinese and one Indian), of which two were fatal; two fatal Chinese cases of small-pox; two non-fatal cases of paratyphoid fever (one English and one Chinese); and one fatal case each of cerebro-spinal fever and puerperal fever (both Chinese). There were also two deaths from influenza (one Portuguese and one Chinese).

Kowloon cinema-goers should not allow themselves to be misled by the title of the Star Theatre's feature attraction. "Society Snobs" is admittedly not the happiest caption for a picture which is in every other respect all that could be desired. The picture affords many intimate glimpses of the elaborate entertainments possible for people with unlimited means, while the gowns worn by "the smart set" are creations which have obviously come from the most exclusive fashion salons. Needless to add the acting and the filming are all that could be desired.

"BOY'S" LAPSE.

MAGISTRATE TAKES SERIOUS VIEW.

Charged with robbing his employer, a "boy" in the service of Mr. Dunn, manager of Messrs. Sennet Freres, was sentenced by Mr. R. E. Lindsell this morning to three months' hard labour. The property enumerated in the charge as having been stolen, and later pawned by the defendant, included a woollen jersey, an overcoat, a pair of European-style trousers, and a woollen jacket, of the total value of $42. These, disappeared from Mr. Dunn's residence at No. 14, Seymour Road, between the 15th and the 27th June, and were traced to various pawnshops. Several pawn tickets were found on the defendant and were ordered by the Magistrate to be returned to Mrs. Dunn. His Worship refused to reconsider the sentence in connection with a plea for leniency made by Mrs. Dunn in the Court. Mrs. Dunn stated that the defendant had been with her for four years, and had been hard-working. He was a habitual opium smoker. His Worship:—"I have got to consider other people besides your individual case. I think a heavy sentence is necessary to act as a deterrent." To the defendant, who had been sentenced:—"You should be ashamed of yourself."

appears opportune for every effort being made to preserve harmony, and we would urge upon the authorities both in Shameen and Canton to exert every effort to secure an amicable settlement of any outstanding questions. Past friendship is too valuable to be sacrificed on points which should be capable of adjustment to the mutual satisfaction of all concerned.

THE WORLD'S
ADVERTISERS.INTERNATIONAL CON-FERENCE AT WEMBLEY.

London, July 14.

The International Advertising Convention of Europe, attended by over five thousand delegates from all over the world, was opened by the Prince of Wales, in the Palace of Industry at Wembley, which was decorated with flowers and the flags of the countries.

Mr. J. H. Thomas, and the American Ambassador, Mr. Kellogg, were present.

The Prince of Wales had an enthusiastic reception, the assembly rising and singing the National Anthem, and cheering for some minutes. Lord Burnham welcomed the delegates, and then the Prince of Wales in a speech said advertising aimed at providing all over the world a freer exchange of commodities at a lower cost of distribution, resulting in elimination of waste and a reduction of prices and of unemployment.

Mr. Kellogg said he believed the Inter-Allied Conference in London would solve the greatest economic problem that had confronted Europe for generations. Mr. Thomas then welcomed the delegates on behalf of the Government.

BRAZILIAN REVOLT.

REBELS BECOME ACTIVE.

Buenos Aires, July 14.

According to news from the frontier, persons arriving at Santos declare that fifteen thousand rebels at Sao Paulo, armed with artillery, are preparing to march to Rio de Janeiro. A Federal detachment of marines has been wiped out. Two hundred wounded are in hospital at Sao Paulo.—Reuter's American Service.

New York, July 14.

A message from Santos says fighting at Sao Paulo is most desperate. Refugees state that the casualties to troops and civilians amount to three thousand. The hotels have been converted into hospitals, and are crowded with wounded. It is believed the rebels defending Sao Paulo number thirty-four thousand. The Federals there, on route, are estimated at twenty-four thousand.—Reuter's American Service.

U.S. OIL SCANDALS.

THE SINCLAIR
INDICTMENTS.

Washington, July 14.

The Supreme Court of Columbia has sustained six out of the ten counts in the indictment on Mr. Sinclair for contempt of the Senate in connection with the Teapot Dome oil leases. The Court ruled out the questions asked defendant about the alleged contributions of Sinclair stock to someone representing the Republican National Committee, as irrelevant.—Reuter's American Service.

ZAGHLUL PASHA.

TO NEGOTIATE WITH BRITAIN.

London, July 14.

In the House of Commons, Mr. MacDonald, replying to Mr. Lumley, said that Zaghlul Pasha had expressed readiness to enter into negotiations with the British Government, but the date of meeting had not yet been fixed.—Reuter.

Cairo, July 14.

Documents have been discovered suggesting that the conspiracy against Zaghlul Pasha was hatched at Berlin.—Reuter.

JUNKMEN'S CRIME.

CHINESE PROTEST
AGAINST SEQUEL.

London, July 14.

In the House of Commons, replying to Mr. Lansbury, Mr. MacDonald said the Chinese Government had protested against the action and threats of the Commander of H.M.S. Cockchafer at Wanchow. The question of publication of the Chinese despatch on the matter would be considered when the Commander-in-Chief's full report on the affair is received.—Reuter.

EFFECTS OF

CROWN COLONIES.

London, July 14.

In the House of Commons, replying to questions, Mr. Thomas said it was too early to expect any definite indications of an increase in exports in the Crown Colonies as the result of participation in the Empire Exhibition, but information in his possession indicated the strongest belief that a large increase might be counted upon.—Reuter.

EAST AFRICAN
"INCIDENT."COLONIAL SECRETARY TO ENQUIRE.

London, July 14.

In the House of Commons, replying to Mr. Baty, Mr. Thomas undertook to enquire into an allegation that the Japanese Consul for Africa was refused hotel accommodation at Mombasa on the occasion of a tour of East Africa.—Reuter.

GLAMORGAN'S BIG VICTORY.

London, July 14.

At Kettering, Worcester beat Northants by twenty-five runs. Worcester scored 160, and 147. Northants compiled 193, and 98. Glamorgan at Swansea beat Derbyshire by an innings and 107. Glamorgan scored 427 (Riches 170, Arnott 102), and Derby 169, and followed on with 151.—Reuter.

SINGAPORE BASE.

THE SALE OF MATERIAL.

London, July 14.

In the House of Lords, Lord Litchford drew attention to the advertisements appearing in the Straits Settlements newspapers of the Singapore naval base material being for sale. He said such advertisements had caused concern in Britain and the Dominions, because it had been understood that the Government's decision to abandon the base was not final.

Lord Chelmsford stated that the advertisement did not indicate any change of policy. The material could be replaced from home in a few weeks if necessary. The Government was actively considering the best means of applying the Premier's general pacific policy.—Reuter.

FLOODS IN
KWANGTUNG.HONGKONG RELIEF MEASURES.

The Directors of the Tung Wah Hospital held a meeting yesterday afternoon to consider the numerous appeals for relief received from flood-affected places in Kwangtung, and also to discuss what steps should be taken to secure the best results, if relief is undertaken, in view of the rampancy of brigandage and the general lawless state of the province.

Mr. Ma Chi-lung, Chairman of the Hospital, presided.

Mr. Yik Ki-chau, vice-Chairman of the Hospital, said he saw the Hon. Mr. A. E. Wood, Secretary for Chinese Affairs, last week with a view to obtaining his advice as to what should be done locally for the flood victims. Mr. Wood was of the opinion that it would be futile to make any effort unless adequate protection was secured from the Chinese Government, without which the safe transit of shipments of rice to the distressed districts would be impossible. Mr.
Wood suggested that the Hongkong merchants defer action until Canton had acted.

Canton's Help.

Mr. Li Po-kwai said reports from various places indicated that the East, North and West Rivers had risen considerably and the floods this year were as devastating as those of some years ago.
The topsy-turvy condition of things in the interior made it difficult to organize any effective relief efforts and it would be useless to expect any material help from the war-torn over-lashed people. Hongkong Chinese owed it to themselves to save their nationals. He was sure the Canton authorities would see that rice and other articles for relief from Hongkong would be free from the unwelcome attentions of the lawless element. As to how the relief work should be conducted, Mr. Li Po-kwai suggested that the supplies be sent to the various flooded places through the local commercial unions, officials from which should personally supervise the distribution among the destitute.

The Chairman said that, when he saw the Secretary for Chinese Affairs yesterday morning, the latter urged him to enlist the cooperation of the commercial unions. The S. C. A. said he understood the Canton Government had voted a sum of $10,000 for relief work.

On the proposal of Mr. Li Po-kwai, seconded by Mr. Li Yauchuen, it was unanimously decided that Hongkong should send relief.
It was further decided to appropriate a sum of $5,000 from the funds of the Hospital as a start, the amount to be increased if considered necessary.

No Discrimination.

The question of adopting a policy absolutely free from influence of relationship and other selfish considerations, in carrying out relief, then came up for discussion. Mr. Li Yau-chuen strongly emphasised the need of getting men of unquestionable integrity and sincerity to conduct the ministrations among the distressed, to see that none of the destitutes received excessive supplies whilst others were absolutely neglected. The relief workers should not confine their attention to people in places easy of access, but should explore remote parts of flooded districts, as the harder a place was to get at, the more serious would be the plight of the people. He could speak from experience that cases had occurred in which relief workers abused their confidence. The bond of clanship and other considerations sometimes influenced their conduct and discrimination followed. In this connection Mr. Li Yau-chuen suggested that the Tung Wah Hospital send a representative to the flood affected places to study the conditions, and, if possible, to supervise the work.

The Chairman said it would be hard to get a man willing to go, on account of the dangers of travelling. Nothing short of a guarantee of safe conduct by the Hospital would persuade any man to go.

Mr. Li Yau-chuen said the Hospital should on no account consent to such an obligation. "If the man is kidnapped and $100,000 is the ransom demanded, the Hospital may have to sell some of its property to secure his release." (Laughter).

The working details of the relief scheme will be decided at meetings with representatives from the various commercial unions.

MUSIC "FESTIVAL."

Male Voice Choirs' Dispute

The Empire Musical Festival at the Crystal Palace held a few weeks ago was marred by regrettable scenes.

In the competition for male-voice choirs for the gold challenge cup and £100 in cash two Welsh choirs were given the second and third as equal prizes, the Holme Valley Male Voice Choir securing the premier award.

The Welsh choirs and their supporters, it is said, resented this award of the adjudicators.
Later in the proceedings, when the women's choirs were competing, there was an outbreak of booming which for a time prevented the competitions from being continued.

Mr. Buckland, the manager of the Crystal Palace, appealed for order, but the disturbance continued, with increased booming, and it was some time before order could be restored.

The adjudicators were compelled to leave their table, and scenes of uproar prevailed.
As a last resource the manager was compelled to send for the police.

The announcement of this did not seem to check the turbulent spirits, but when the police arrived they soon came to a more reasonable attitude, and quietness was restored.

The effect of the disturbance, however, was felt by the young women who had to compete in the subsequent items, and throughout their singing, to the practised ear, distinct traces of nervousness could be detected.

The singing of the Holme Valley Male Voice Choir, the winners of the gold challenge cup was adjudged to be considerably above the average, and to display distinctive interpretative ability.

DEATH.

BODY FOUND IN RAVINE.

Sitting as Coroner, Mr. E. W.
Hamilton conducted an enquiry into the circumstances of the death of an Indian constable who failed to return from duty on the 16th April and whose body was found among some bushes by a search party on the 20th April.Evidence showed that the deceased was given his revolver and 18 rounds of ammunition at 1 p.m. on the 15th April, his beat being between Cheungshwan and Lal-chikok. He was seen going towards the latter place at about 5 p.m. by an Indian sergeant.Four hours after the time the deceased was supposed to return, a Chinese at the Tai Nam Street substation, at Shamshui, telephoned to the sergeant, who happened to be at the old police station, and told him that the Indian had failed to turn up. The sergeant then informed the inspector. The former was immediately sent out on a bicycle, while the latter, with another police officer went out on foot. After searching till 2.00 the next morning, they returned and a party of Indian constables was then sent to search the districts, but without success. Search parties went out every day subsequently, but it was not till the 20th, that the body was found. The parties on this occasion searched the district just below the Kowloon filter beds, about one mile from deceased's usual beat. The body was found in a ravine in a kneeling position. Various articles of clothing were discovered near the body. The holster did not contain the revolver, which is still missing.
There were two bullet holes in the back of the body.

The enquiry was adjourned.

TENANTS AND SUB-
TENANTS.

CURIOUS POSSESSION CASE

At the Summary Court yesterday a landlord claimed possession of the second floor of 18 Wing Kut Street, on the ground that it had been used as a brothel and for gambling purposes. Plaintiff was Li Kuan and defendant Hui Tak.Mr. E. S. C. Brooks appeared for the landlord and Mr. D.
MacCallum for defendant.In delivering judgment His Honour said he thought the legislature must be presumed to be conscientious of local conditions and it seemed to him that Section 4 (1) (c) was intended to include all people living on the premises where it said, "residing with." He was prepared to hold this. In that case he agreed with Mr. Brooks that the section appeared to put a duty on the tenant that he be responsible for the conduct of the premises. He would enter judgment for the landlord for possession. It seemed to him almost impossible for the principal tenant not to know what was going on.
On the evening of the raid by the police there were at least twelve people present on the premises and only three of them gave their address at 18 Wing Kut Street.
In view of the difficulty of obtaining premises he would grant possession to the landlord.He would give possession in one month with rent, mesne profits and costs.

THEATRICAL DRIVE TO RAISE FUNDS.Last night the Wing On Lok theatrical troupe gave their last performance at the Kau U Fong theatre in connection with a "drive" for funds for the Tung Wah and Kwong Wah Hospitals. When the means of raising subscriptions for the Hospitals were discussed, the Directors hit upon the idea of approaching the Wing On Company for the service of members of their troupe. The Wing On Company troupe, the Wing On Lok troupe, readily agreed, and not only provided scenery for the four nights the troupe were acting, but also lent considerable decorative materials to improve the usually drab appearance of the theatre. Among those present at the opening performance were H.E. the Governor and Lady Stubbs, Sir Claud Severn, Colonial Secretary, the Hon. Mr.
A. E. Wood, Secretary for Chinese Affairs, Hon. Mr. R. H. Kotewall and
Hon. Mr. Chau Shin-ki.TIENTSIN THREATENED.CITY IN DANGER OF FLOOD.Tientsin, July 14.—According to the Peking and Tientsin Times, Tientsin is threatened with disastrous floods owing to the heavy rains that have fallen in the hinterland. It is estimated that the Hsin-ho is discharging 1,200 cubic metres of water per second, or twelve times the river's normal capacity.Experts state that it is beyond the power of human agency to prevent a vast area from flooding, and only drastic action can save Tientsin. It is recommended to cut the dyke of the Peiyun-ho, thus allowing the floodwaters to escape seaward to the north and south of Tientsin, which would flood many villages.—Reuter.WAITRESSES IN CANTON.BANNED BY POLICE PROHIBITION.Last Saturday was the last day for the waitresses to continue their service in the tea houses and restaurants in the city of Canton, says the Canton Gazette. The prohibition by the Police Department took effect Sunday morning.
Henceforward no women will be permitted to be employed in the tea houses and restaurants as waitresses.The notification issued by the Police Department read that there was a great variety in the character of the waitresses in the employment of the tea houses and restaurants. Although there were many of them who behaved themselves decently there were some who did not, and on account of them troubles had arisen continually.
No waitresses are now to be seen in the tea houses and restaurants.
Public opinion in the city highly approves the Police prohibition.
It is considered that most of the women in this kind of service do not properly behave themselves and that there are many who have been led to unclean lives after taking up waitress work.

2,000 Waitresses In Canton.

The introduction of the service of women to wait on customers in restaurants dates back two years ago.
The Yat Ngu Restaurant on the Wing Hon Malon is said to have been the first house to employ them.
Shortly afterwards many others followed the example, which has been used more as an advertising scheme. Up to the present, according to the Sunday issue of the Sun Kwok Wah Pao, there were more than two thousand women employed by the tea houses and restaurants.The waitresses enjoyed very good pay for their work. Usually they received double as much pay as the men employees in the tea houses and restaurants. Their regular pay was from $15 to $30, while their extra income or "cushaw" (also known as "trembling hands") amounted to as much as or sometimes more than their regular wages.JAPAN COAL

PORTUGUESE WILL DISPUTE.

HOUSEKEEPER CLAIMS ESTATE.

Children Allege Undue Influence.
That the will of the late Mr. Francisco Maria Gutierrez, a broker in the firm of Messrs. Shawan, Tomes and Co., Ltd., who died on April 29th, 1923, and by which he left the whole of his property to his housekeeper, Rosa de Lina Gutierrez, was made under the undue influence of his housekeeper to the detriment of his three children, was the defence to an interesting action which came before the Acting Chief Justice, Mr. Justice Gom-pert, in the Supreme Court this morning.
The plaintiff, Rosa de Lina Gutierrez, claims that she is the executrix of the deceased and asks for probate of the will, dated January 20th, 1920, whilst the three children, Maria Emilia Gutierrez, Francisco Maria Gutierrez and Cecilia Maria Gutierrez, have filed a caveat against the will on the ground that the will was made under undue influence.
Mr. C. G. Alabaster, K.C. (instructed by Messrs. Deacons) appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. Eldon Potter (instructed by Mr. G. K. Hall Brutton) defended.
NOT A FREE AGENT.
The onus of opening the case rested on Mr. Potter, and in his opening speech, he told a very interesting story of the deceased's family life. He said that by the will of January, 1920, the deceased left the whole of his property to the plaintiff absolutely, but the defence would show by evidence, which would not leave a shadow of doubt, that the testator's real intention was that the plaintiff should enjoy the property during her life-time and that it should go to his children after her death. The plaintiff and deceased had been living together for many years before deceased's death. The deceased, said Mr. Potter, was a man of no great strength of character and of feeble health and was entirely dominated by the plaintiff. Her influence was so great that he was not a free agent.
His Lordship:—Of course many married men are not.
Mr. Potter:—That is so, my Lord, but I was speaking from the testamentary point of view.
NO DISINHERITANCE.
Continuing, Mr. Potter said that this was not an ordinary case of a father disinheriting his children, because it would be proved that right up to the time of his death he was on very affectionate terms with them and that he had stated several times that it was his intention that the children should benefit by his property after plaintiff's death.
Deceased was a married man and there were five children of the marriage, three of whom survived him when he died last year, aged over 60. The first child, a daughter, was aged 32; the second, a son, was aged 30; and the third, a daughter, was aged 28. In the year 1901, the deceased became estranged from his wife and he left the house and went to another house, next-door to where the plaintiff lived. Subsequently, he went to live with the plaintiff and lived with her until he died. Whatever might have caused the breach between husband and wife which led him to leave his wife and go to live with another woman, the feelings between father and children were always of the most affectionate nature. The oldest daughter, at first went to her father's new house to practice the piano and when she later went to the Italian Convent her father visited her every Sunday. When she left the Convent and lived with an aunt, the father visited her, and when she was married in 1910 the father was present. At the christening of her children her father was also present. The father often saw his children, but never in his own house, because of the jealousy of the plaintiff. The second child, the son, went to work in a

BORDER RAIDERS.

ARMED MEN ROY FRONTIER SHOP.

A report is to hand that an armed robbery occurred at 5 o'clock this morning at No. 346 Des Voeux Road West. Two men, not away with money and property, the value of which is not known.
A message has been sent from the mainland giving the news of a raid made by armed robbers. Ten men crossed over the frontier into Shataukok, where they ransacked a grocery shop. Later they escaped by the way they had come, with money and goods valued at a small amount.

cause he had obtained better employment, and took his mother and younger sister with him. When he came to Hongkong he saw his father and often had tiffin with him. It was quite clear, said Mr. Potter, that the deceased did not intend his widow to benefit from his money, but that after plaintiff's death his children should benefit. When the deceased was dying, his oldest daughter went to see him and when he knew that she was present he said: "Amelia, my darling child, why did you not come before?" a statement which proved his affection. A number of independent witnesses would be called to show that plaintiff absolutely dominated the will of deceased. He had to enjoy only clandestine meetings with his children and kept the knowledge from plaintiff, because he was afraid for her to know. At the christening of his eldest daughter's second child, he requested that the ceremony should be during the tiffin hour, so that plaintiff should not know he was present. One Sunday morning, when he called at his eldest daughter's house, he was asked to stay for the afternoon, but he said he could not do so because he was afraid to incur the displeasure of plaintiff. In 1918, deceased and his brother arranged to have a private telephone between their houses. Instructions were given to the Telephone Company and the work actually started, when plaintiff ordered the work to stop. Deceased was dominated entirely by her. He even had to borrow small sums of money because he was afraid for her to know that he had drawn on his account.

LOCKED IN THE HOUSE.

On one occasion, plaintiff objected to deceased's brother taking deceased out in a chair, locked up deceased's clothes and finally locked both men in the house. Visitors to the house (the parties were living in the "Birdcage" Conduit Road, at the time) had first to give their names and business before plaintiff would admit them and both gates were kept locked, plaintiff keeping the keys. Later they moved into No. 3, Mosque Street, where plaintiff continued to dominate the household.
Mr. Potter said his evidence would show that deceased repeatedly stated that he wished plaintiff to enjoy his money during her lifetime and that after her death he wished his children to enjoy it. That would be proved by a number of witnesses who had no interest in the case at all. Deceased said as much to Father Bianca, who attended him during his last illness, and had previously said the same thing to him in 1920 when he was seriously ill. Just before he died, deceased said Father Bianca to draw up a document, by which it was shown that he never could have intended plaintiff to enjoy his estate absolutely.
Concluding his address, Mr. Potter submitted that the will was made under plaintiff's domination. It was signed because plaintiff agreed that she should have the property during her life and that it should then go to the children. She agreed to that trust but had since refused to perform it.
Evidence was then given by Mrs. Maria Gutierrez, the deceased's oldest daughter, who spoke in detail of the incidents mentioned by Mr. Potter.

"NO GOOD TO ANYBODY."

SURREY PRIVATE WHO WANTS TO LEAVE ARMY.

A disturbance at Mount Austin Barracks soon after midnight on the night of June 28th-29th was described at a District Court Martial held at Murray Barracks this morning. The accused was Pte. George Barnes, of the East Surrey, and against him it was alleged that he was drunk, attempted to strike a superior officer, and resisted an escort, all the offences being committed on the night of June 28th. He pleaded not guilty.

Major A. L. Cruikshank presided over the Court, on which also sat Capt. Hoy, of the Grenadiers, and Lieut. D. J. Allfrey, Lieut. A. E. Cottan presided.

DRUNK ON PEAK TRAM.

Sergeant G. O. Oliver said he was orderly sergeant in charge of "A" Company at Austin Barracks on June 28th. He called the roll at 9 a.m. and again at 7.15 p.m., and accused was absent on each occasion. At 12.15 a.m. the same night, Corpl. Doubtfire reported that accused had arrived on the last Peak Tram drunk, and had failed to answer to his name in the guardroom. A light was shining in one of the barrack rooms, and witness, in company with Corpl. Doubtfire and Pte. Anderson (M.P.), went on to the verandah where they observed someone walking towards them. Witness asked him who he was and he replied "Barnes." Witness ordered that he should be placed under close arrest and accused shouted "That's your game is it?" He raised his right hand and attempted to strike witness. Witness ordered the escort to close with accused, who thereupon proceeded to shout "Al! Al!" at the top of his voice. Someone began to run towards them, and witness told the escort to get accused downstairs as quickly as possible. He struggled and kicked all the time and tried to break away from his escort, using obscene language. When accused was eventually put in the guardroom, he turned round to witness and said, using extremely bad language, "I give you credit; you're fly, you struck me once, no-one ever struck me twice; remember that, mash."
Cross-examined, witness denied that he ever took hold of accused. He could tell that accused was drunk because he was swaying on the verandah and was very excitable.
Lance Corporal Doubtfire said he was on duty at the Peak Tramway Station when accused arrived. He corroborated subsequent happenings as detailed by Sgt. Oliver.

ACCUSED'S QUESTIONS.

Accused:—If I was drunk, why was I not treated as a drunken person?
Witness:—You kicked, struggled and resisted us so that we had to put you in the cells as you were.
Accused:—A drunken person is not allowed to shave for 48 hours; why was I allowed to shave next morning?
Witness:—It was not known to me that you did shave.
Did I turn my pockets out or did you?—You did.
Did I sign my name to the list that night?—Yes.
Pte. Anderson corroborated.

THE DEFENCE.

Pte. Barnes called Pte. Low to give evidence in his defence. The latter told the Court that he and Barnes went straight to the barrack room where witness slept. Barnes went out of the room to get his soft hat and shortly afterwards witness heard him shout out "Al! Al! Help." Witness ran outside and saw Barnes being dragged down the stairs. Corpl. HOW TO PACIFY EUROPE.

BRITISH PREMIER SPEAKS OUT.

DEBATE IN HOUSE OF COMMONS.

London, July 14.
In the House of Commons, carefully-worded speeches were made by Mr. Asquith and Mr. Baldwin on the resumption of the Foreign Office estimate debate, with the evident desire not to embarrass the Government on the eve of the Inter-Allied Conference. Mr. Asquith urged that any assurance with regard to security given to France ought to be part of Britain's general undertaking under the League Covenant; secondly, similar security should be offered to Germany; thirdly, Germany must be admitted to membership of the League and to a seat on the Council. The Empire should guarantee France and Germany. He emphasised the desirability of consulting the Empire, and carrying it with us, in order to achieve the object of the League.
Mr. Baldwin expressed sympathy with Mr. Asquith's argument.

FRANCE'S "AMAZING FEARS."

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald said the question of whether the Dawes report sought to impose on Germany obligations not legally within the interpretation of the Treaty of Versailles would be reported on by legal experts to the Conference. He said France had come to regard the Treaty of Versailles as something akin to the Ark of the Covenant, and any suggestion to put it aside aroused amazing fears. A similar feeling was entertained with regard to any suggestion of modification in the operations of the Reparations Commission. We must, however, be most careful that France did not extend the legal provisions of the Treaty.

With reference to the probability of American participation, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald said practical difficulties would alone prevent an official appointment at present. The only thing so far clear was that if there was going to be an American on the Reparations Commission, France would insist on an extra appointment thereto, by reason of the fact that the experts' report could only be put into operation on floating the forty million loan, his duties being confined to safeguarding the creditors. With reference to the alternative arbitration proposal, it must be remembered that the Reparation Agent would have command of every conceivable particle of information, enabling him to give judgment whether there was wilful default or not.

Mr. MacDonald said the language of the White Paper had been left purposely vague. The minimum they were seeking was satisfactory security for the creditor, with the minimum change. There would be an American on the Reparations Commission, with power to speak and vote when any default was being considered. The Spa agreement certainly would not be reconsidered in London. He was very anxious that these questions be not quarrelled about preliminarily to the Inter-Allied Conference, at which the Dawes report alone would be considered and put into operation. The Reparations Commission was political rather than judicial. They certainly would regard the Ruhr Commission as having been scrapped, and subsequent action taken not by the Reparation Commission but by the Governments who were not acting together but on their own initiative, undermining security by political action. This was a problem to be faced.

The position he took up was that the creditor should have security which would be satisfactory to him. The preparation of a programme of sanctions would only mean giving Germany warning how in the event of default, she would be punished. Nobody would be foolish. All he could hope was that the conference beginning on Wednesday would be regarded as a non-recurrent opportunity not only for the Allies to reunite but also to unite on the work of pacifying Europe.

A CRITICISM.

Mr. Austin Chamberlain, after a recital of what he described as Mr. MacDonald's errors of view and their avoidance in the future, proceeded to outline a policy which he recommended for consideration by the Premier. He said that first of all they should frankly accept and uphold the Versailles Treaty, as the only possible basis of public law in Europe; secondly they should make the maintenance of the entente with France a cardinal object of their policy; thirdly they should make Germany's observance of her obligations a no less cardinal feature, and in return if Germany accepted and loyally fulfilled the obligation now presented they should be prepared to respect Germany's integrity and welcome her back to the comity of nations.

They should seek to secure the association of the United States wherever possible. He suggested that another Dawes committee, to be appointed by the Reparation Commission, might be a hopeful way of securing the results desired.

The Foreign Office vote was eventually agreed to, and the debate terminated. Reuter.
